Intuition, Intention & Your Heart's Desire

A Horse-Assisted Yoga for Personal Transformation Retreat

With a horse as both a non-verbal participant and a non-judgemental mirror, explore how the power of intention can help you find your heart's desire. This insight-packed day retreat will give you the chance to focus on your own intent and desires, providing the time, space and impetus for you to tap into your own innate knowing. We'll start the day with sunrise yoga, then spend the morning interacting with horses to hone your intention with some practice listening to your unconscious mind. After lunch, tarot readings to refine your intention, some physical activity to bring your body into the conversation and a relaxing yoga nidra meditation to set and ground your intention. We'll finish with a chanting practice to guide your re-entry to the outside world.
